Advanced Math & Science IV is a small, family-oriented school community where everyone knows your name. By engaging our students, teachers, and administrators in experiences that embrace different learning styles, cultivate students’ imaginative and creative abilities, and celebrate achievement, we ensure that you’ll graduate with the skills and content knowledge necessary to succeed in college and career.

- College visits beginning in the 9th grade, internships, and job shadowing
- Multiple AP course offerings including AP Environmental Science and AP Music, as well as online accelerated learning options
- Over a dozen student activities and Public Schools Athletic League (PSAL) sports teams, including basketball, football, and more

We are the largest charter high school network in New York City. Our eight Advanced Math & Science and Humanities high schools, located in the Bronx, Brooklyn, and Queens, serve more than 3,300 students.

Visit our Queens schools during an open house or schedule a tour to find the right fit for you.

At Humanities IV, we are artist-scholars who analyze global issues impacting humanity for the purpose of becoming an engaged community inspired to CREATE. In our beautifully-renovated school, we are committed to supporting the passions and aspirations of our artist-scholars. We offer meaningful and challenging course work, internships, visual and performing arts curricula, and a thoughtful advisory program. Our artist-scholars apply their learning and deepen relationships with each other during field trips every marking period.

- Learning experiences that prepare students for college and career
- Beautiful, newly-renovated classrooms and public spaces with state-of-the-art resources
- Regents Diploma with Advanced Designation in the Arts

New Visions Charter High Schools are part of New Visions for Public Schools, a nonprofit organization that has worked to strengthen NYC public schools for 30 years. To learn more, visit www.newvisions.org.
